Feng Shui & Colour Mirrors

Feng Shui is an ancient practice that can identify areas of your home where balance is required. This is done through analyzing the energy in a space and determining how to set up the environment to support the residents of a specific dwelling or space.

The Colour Mirrors System is an energy-based system that is based on psychology of colour. We can learn about areas in our life where we may have a blockage or any area where we can enhance our potential and well-being. The Colour Mirrors system is a wonderful tool for self-analysis and can support you on your journey to seek balance and harmony in your life and home. When you choose a specific bottle or bottles, they each represent a message for you. When we choose a colour or drawn to a specific bottle it is bypassed by our conscious mind. It works on a subconscious level and these colours and combination of colours will “mirror” areas in your life where you need attention to live to your fullest potential. Colour Mirrors is based on soulful energy work.

Feng Shui and colour analysis together blend well to create harmony and balance for your internal (inner- self) and external environment (your home and spaces). Our outer environments are often a reflection of our inner environment.
